Shows Up Old Board.

Mr. J. E. McDonald, who was employed as special attorney by the present dispensary board to report on the legality of certain purchases made by the former board, consisting of Chairman H. H. Evans, John Bell Towill and L. W. Boykin, has made his report. The report shows that $200,000 worth of liquor was bought in excess of the institution's needs by the former board, and the report of the directors states that of this amount $110,249.74 was returned the rest being used. Most of these purchases, Mr. McDonald declares were illegally made and, as was brought out by the investigating committee, orders were frequently given by the clerk of the board over the telephone, or without order from the board, a resolution of the board empowering the clerk to do this whenever it was deemed necessary.

Fire at Bowman.

BOWMAN Jan. 22—Special: The dwelling of Col. R. L. Shuler located almost in the center of this town was destroyed by fire yesterday about 10:30 a. m. The fire was first discovered by smoke issuing from the roof near the stove due and gained such headway before any material could be secured to reach the flames every one present upon realizing that the building was doomed to destruction and every effort was made to keep the fire under control. Hundreds of people old and young, white and colored, "little and big," lent a willing helping hand and by what might be termed superhuman aid the fire was kept under control, not before however it had also destroyed a small wooden store building on an adjacent lot the property of Mr. A. G. Stroman. The dwelling of Mr. Stroman which was only about 40 feet from Col. Shuler's building caught fire a number of times but by heroic efforts on the part of the fighters it was saved, but damaged to a considerable extent. Col. Shuler's loss is almost entirely covered by insurance. Mr. Stroman's loss is fully covered.

Mr. Frank L. Shuler lost his barn and contents also by fire on Saturday night. Mr. Shuler lives about 4 miles above Bowman on the old Orangeburg and Charleston road. The origin of the fire is not known neither the value of the property destroyed has been ascertained so far. DUNDEE.

GLAZE & EBBERT,
Orangeburg, S. C. Att'y's. at Law.

AVERY'S "TORPEDO" SULKY.

THE CONSTRUCTION is very simple, making the plow perfect in strength and durability, and equal to any needful strain. Built from the ground up with a view to simplicity, convenience of the operator and perfect work. Steel wheels with removable boxes, which are dirt and dust proof.

THE DRAFT. The plow is rigid in the frame and carried on the three wheels, is necessarily very light draft, as there is no landslide or bottom friction.

CONDITION OF SOIL. The front and rear furrow wheels are angled so as to run in the corner, or angle, of furrow. This arrangement holds the plow firmly to its work even in hard ground. The incline of the axle is such that the wear is on the ends, and that the oil runs down into the wheel boxes which form a reservoir for the oil; thus reducing the friction to the minimum. Abundant clearance between the plow and front furrow wheel does away with all liability to clog. Weed hook further insures the covering of all trash and high weeds.

THE LEVERS are within easy reach of the operator, who from his seat can perfectly control the plow. The furrow lever raises and lowers the plow, thus regulating the depth of plowing. The leveling lever to the land wheel adjusts the wheel on the land so as to level the plow when plowing at different depths. The draft-rod lever gives any desired "land."

THE REAR WHEEL LOCK is released by a slight pressure of the foot, then the wheel is free to castor in any direction; thus enabling the plow while in the ground to turn a perfectly square corner under all circumstances.

IN QUALITY OF WORK, lightness of draft, ease of adjustment and handling it is first class in every respect.

THE HITCH is easily adjusted, and by the landing lever connected with it may, while the plow is in motion, be promptly regulated to give any desired "land." Two, three or four horses may be hitched abreast or tandem.
